

PMH Virtual Symposium
Wednesday 27 April 2022
Morning session (10.00am – 12.30pm)

Time	Session	Lead presenter
10.00	Welcome and overview	David Osborn
10.05	Guest speaker	Ashley Adamson
10.10	Adults	A. Does co-locating public mental health interventions in community settings improve mental health and reduce health inequalities?
10.20		B. Real life matter: A study of what, where, and how services in community spaces work for older adults.
10.30		C. Evaluation of the health and financial impacts of co-located welfare services in primary care in times of austerity
10.40		D. Using big data to understand public mental health interventions and inequalities
10.50		E. Public perspectives on inequalities in public mental health
11.00	Comfort break (15 minutes)
11.15	Welcome back and introduction to Children and Young People's projects	Judi Kidger
11.20	Children and Young People	F. School culture and student mental health: a participatory action research study
11.30		G. Secondary school support for the mental health of students in the COVID-19 era
11.40		H. Creating a School Health Research Network to improve young people's mental health and well-being
11.50	Guest speaker	Jude Stansfield
11.55	Closing remarks	Judi Kidger
12.00	Comfort break – join breakout rooms
12.10	Breakout rooms	Details on page 2
12.30	Close

Breakout sessions (12.10 – 12.30 pm)

Title		Session lead
Adults	A. Does co-locating public mental health interventions in community settings improve mental health and reduce health inequalities?	Shamini Gnani and Emily Oliver
	B. Real life matter: A study of what, where, and how services in community spaces work for older adults.	Caroline Lee
	C. Evaluation of the health and financial impacts of co-located welfare services in primary care in times of austerity	Cristina Fernandez-Garcia
	D. Using big data to understand public mental health interventions and inequalities	Jen Dykxhoorn
	E. Public perspectives on inequalities in public mental health	Alex Lewington Sandra Jayacodi
Children and Young People	F&G. School culture and student mental health	Mark Limmer and Greg Hartwell
	H. Creating a School Health Research Network to improve young people's mental health and well-being	Emily Widnall

#PMHVirtualSymposium2022